

“Beauty Meets Beast: Miss Arizona Plus America Joins Forces With Former Navy SEAL Close-Combat Instructor To Fight Rape Against Women”

The current reigning Miss Arizona Plus America, Debbi Clayton, has joined forces with Tim Larkin, one of the most respected close-combat trainers in the world and creator of Target-Focus™ Training, his simple yet devastating system of personal protection, to help women fight the growing threats of domestic and vicious criminal violence.

Clayton, herself a victim of a rape and stabbing and who will compete in the first Miss Plus America pageant August 21 - 23, 2003 in Monroe, Louisiana, said, “I’ve studied martial arts and self-defense and they’re fine as sport competition or to get in shape but are useless in a violent domestic or criminal attack. Women need something that is quickly learned and 100% effective against any possible threat -- even if they’re tiny and possess no unusual physical skills. Tim’s system is the only one that meets those requirements.”

Larkin added, “Women are squarely in the crosshairs of violence today. They must treat violence against themselves or their children as a life-or-death situation, and that’s exactly what Target-Focus™ Training was designed to do. Giving in to a criminal today often means sacrificing your life.”

Passionate and dynamic as speakers, Debbi and Tim are a powerful, entertaining interview. Clayton “speaks from experience” and has a captivating message as she related to women of all ages. Larkin will tell your audience:

- How a fragile 72 year-old woman fought off 2 six-foot, 200+lbs knife-wielding attackers using 3 simple, yet highly effective, combat techniques.
- How any woman can protect herself against a much larger and stronger attacker regardless of her speed, strength, or athletic ability.
- Why traditional women’s self defense training could get you maimed or killed in a violent confrontation.
- Two CRITICAL mistakes almost women makes when they face multiple attackers and how to avoid them.
- How to use your attacker’s ‘natural’ defense system to destroy him.

Tim will share with your audience the simple yet devastatingly powerful personal protection system principles that took him over 20 years to develop. Armed with this information your audience can avoid the dangerous pitfalls and fatal mistakes untrained (and even most trained) people make when facing a violent threat. By the end of the interview, your audience will have more real world knowledge than most traditional martial arts would teach them in 10+ years.

Clayton speaks frequently on violence and is the national spokesperson for the Men Can Stop Rape organization. Larkin’s clients range from elite military commandos and law enforcement officers to corporate executives and everyday people. He recently returned from an extended European training session where he taught his TFT system to more than 100 entrepreneurs and their families on a cruise ship in the Baltic Sea.
